

It is worrisome that you would consider forcing manufacturers of consumer electronics to respect a copyright flag. It would add unnecessary expense to our electronics, and stifle invention. The broadcasting industry does not control the air waves, the people do. There is copyright law that protects thier creations. There is no law that forbids us from using what is broadcast over the air how we see fit for personal use. It is your responsibility to protect the American people's right to fair use much more than it is your responsibility to protect the broadcasters from copyright infringement. That is the role of the courts.
